Lubbock-based localLINUX bolsters customer base with acquisition of Spotted Moose

Lubbock - localLINUX, a locally-owned firm offering technology consultation, managed services, and security and networking solutions, has expanded its reach in the Lubbock and South Plains communities with the recent acquisition of another web development and website hosting company – Spotted Moose Web Design.

Founded in 2002, localLINUX serves hundreds of corporate clients across Texas and the U.S. The acquisition will allow the business to offer new and improved services to former Spotted Moose, customers, says Michael Strong, COO.

"Spotted Moose has offered website development and hosting solutions for its customer, and now those same customer have the added benefit of additional product offerings and support personel." he says. "We are excited about the future of localLINUX as we serve a growing clientele. Already these new customers are enjoying enhanced solutions for their business or personal endeavors, and we are honored to service these Spotted Moose customers."

Located at 5502 58th street, suite 400, in Lubbock, localLINUX can be found on the Web at: www.locallinux.com.
